FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

This Weekend Charlotte Animal Agencies Join Forces to Find Homes for Bully Breed Dogs

Spotlight will be on bully-breed dogs with promotion and discounted adoption fees

June 22nd and June 23rd will be all about bully-breed dogs at the Humane Society of Charlotte and Charlotte Mecklenburg Animal Care & Control. The two agencies are joining forces to advocate for and advertise the great bully-breed dogs available for adoption at each shelter.

These featured canines will have their kennels marked with a sign denoting that the animal is part of this special promotion and all participating canines will have reduced adoption fees of just $10.

Visitors to each shelter will be able to meet & greet with these special canines, interact with them and ask questions about each one. Members of the community who are interested in adopting or who would like to support the efforts of these organizations are encouraged to visit the shelters this weekend to learn more.

In addition, the shelter staff and volunteers will be on hand to educate the public about what great companions these canines are and confront myths about bully breeds. “We hope that by educating potential adopters about the benefits of these loving breeds, new homes will be found for these wonderful dogs,” states Vice President of Development & Community Relations, Donna Canzano. “Bully breed dogs are loyal, loving, playful, friendly and make great family companions”.

About the Humane Society of Charlotte

The Humane Society of Charlotte is a community resource committed to improving the lives of companion animals through adoption, spay/neuter and education. The Humane Society of Charlotte provides low-cost spay and neuter surgeries for cats and dogs to reduce pet overpopulation throughout the Carolinas. The no-kill of adoptable animal's organization provides pets with the love and attention they need to live happy and healthy lives while awaiting a new home. The Humane Society of Charlotte is a nonprofit organization that relies solely on private donations to achieve its mission.

About Charlotte Mecklenburg Animal Care & Control

The Animal Care & Control Division of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department is committed to protecting the safety of citizens and animals within our community. Our goals are to create partnerships within the community in order to promote responsible pet ownership, decrease the overpopulation of domestic pets through spay-neuter programs, and to place adoptable animals in good homes.
